illuminating a new office to optimize learning, collaborations and health

A core objective

Sartorius is a leading international laboratory and process technology provider for the life sciences, pharmaceutical and food industries. The United Nations' sustainability goal 'Good Health and Well-Being' is an integral part of this 150-year-old company's core business.

Apart from committing to contribute to a future where more people have access to better medicine, Sartorius also prioritizes health and well-being of their employees by embracing sustainability-driven innovations.

The Challenge

Sartorius wanted to promote visual comfort, circadian rhythm and productivity amongst their staff while minimizing energy consumption. Their new office comprises staff areas, meeting rooms and laboratories – each with different lighting needs.

How it was solved

Signify introduced OneSpace, a luminous modular system, to provide their meeting rooms with homogenous, glare-free lighting for maximum focus and alertness during discussions; and 3D luminaires to promote circularity and customizability. NatureConnect was used to mimic natural sunlight in the labs, improving the circadian rhythms of their engineers.

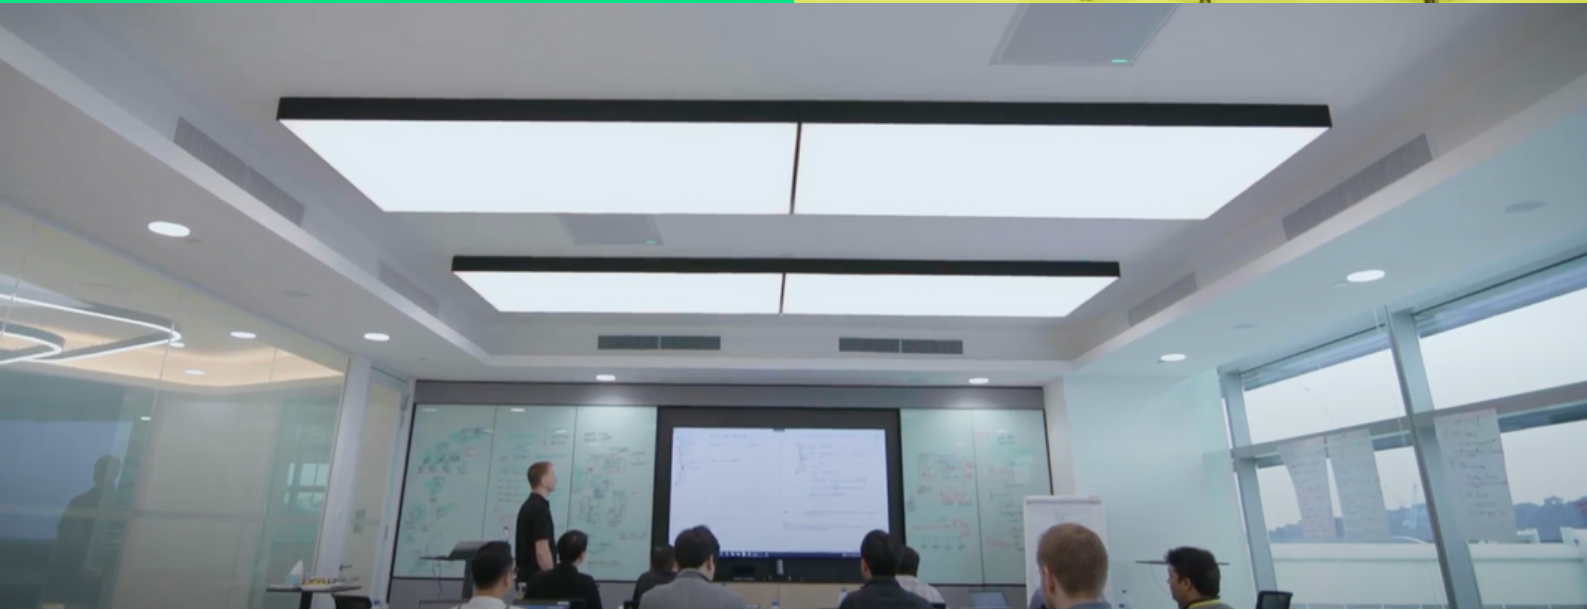

“We chose Signify as their unique range of lighting innovations aligns perfectly to our goals of enhancing our employees’ health and well-being while creating positive environmental impact.”

“What we really like about Signify was their intent to customize solutions addressing our needs and not just fitting in what they had. They understood our brief in only one meeting and came back with solutions within two days. We are very happy that we went with Signify.”
